

Custom molded cable assembly products

MANCA.HK.....custom molded cable assembly products, built to customer specifications, in quantities and lot sizes that other company's find difficult to service. This includes complete products manufactured to your specification or molding only with our customers material or assembly.

MANCA.HK specializes in custom over-mold cable assembly and injection molded cables. We provide rapid prototype and quick turn with pre-production and quick turn, low volume and high mix assemblies to the audio, automotive, electronic, industrial, computer and instrumentation industries.

Over-molding to provide strain and flex relief in conjunction with over-molded connectors can improve conventional interconnects. OEM and custom designs with standard PVC, plastic and thermoplastic rubber over-molded cables are available in weeks not months.
